Science Integrity Alliance

Our Company

The Science Integrity Alliance is a limited liability company registered in the United States of America, with operations based in Florida. Committed to sustainable and responsible business practices, we focus on advancing research integrity and promoting ethical scientific practices that benefit both the scientific community and society at large.

Our platforms and resources are designed to empower researchers at every career stage, equipping them to integrate research integrity principles into their work. Modest annual subscriptions for premium resources support our operational sustainability, ensuring we can continue to provide impactful solutions.

The Alliance unites individuals from all backgrounds and identities in our shared mission to make a meaningful and enduring impact on the global scientific community.

Our Unique Approach to Integrity

01 Integrated, Cross-Disciplinary Approach

Unlike previous initiatives that operate in silos, we integrate efforts from multiple focus areas, including scholarly infrastructure, communication, research education, reproducibility, and open science. This comprehensive network amplifies the impact of all organizations within our Alliance, enabling results that are unattainable independently.

02 Accessibility and Youth Focus

We prioritize accessibility through clear, concise content, ensuring easy navigation for researchers at all levels. We also focus on engaging young scientists, instilling research integrity values from the outset of their careers.

A Shared Mission for Excellence

Unite & Connect

We actively seek and unite organizations that share our commitment to upholding the highest standards of scientific integrity. By maintaining an extensive directory of like-minded entities, we cultivate a network characterized by excellence and trust.

Empower & Echo

We provide a dynamic platform for our partners to engage effectively, enhancing the reach and impact of our collective efforts. As facilitators, we amplify the voices of our community, ensuring that the principles of scientific integrity reach a global audience.

Grow & Guide

Our mission extends to shaping the next generation of scientific leaders. We are dedicated to embedding a culture of integrity within the scientific community by providing the necessary tools and mindset to fortify the foundation of scientific inquiry and ensure a future where integrity is at the core of all research endeavors.

Meet Our Leadership

Our Executive Office and Advisory Board unite decades of multidisciplinary expertise with an unwavering dedication to advancing responsible research practices. The Executive Director drives strategic initiatives and daily operations to reinforce our core mission, while our Advisory Board provides vital counsel that shapes the Alliance's trajectory and focus areas. Together, this leadership team orchestrates global collaborations that strengthen research integrity across borders and disciplines, carefully balancing the evolving needs of both the scientific community and our partners.
